

LeverX Expands to SAP Interactive Forms by Adobe

Mountain View, CA, July 1, 2007 – LeverX Inc., a full-service systems integrator and SAP Services Partner, announce the expansion of their service portfolio to provide consulting and implementation for SAP Interactive forms by Adobe and SAP Business Workflow. Parag Joshi, a seasoned SAP consultant joined LeverX as Director of Business Development to lead this new SAP Technical Practice.

SAP states, "SAP Interactive Forms by Adobe enable end-to-end workflows with rich and intelligent, common user experiences for online and offline use, increase user productivity, extend SAP business processes to every computer with Adobe Reader, and increase trust in documents and data anywhere in the process." SAP Interactive Forms by Adobe is a great example of robust industry leading technology provided as part of the SAP NetWeaver platform. This out-of-the-box technology is at the heart of projects around the world to automate manual forms-based processes and exchange of information within and between enterprises.

"For years now, during many of our SAP PLM implementation projects, our customers have asked us to assist them in understanding how they can take advantage of SAP Interactive Forms by Adobe included with the SAP NetWeaver platform," says Dr. Victor Lozinski, President of LeverX, Inc. "We listen to our customers and believe that for many factors including easy of deployment and compliance to regulations such as SOX, there is now a growing demand for services in this area that we can fully deliver."

"We are excited about this opportunity to leverage SAP Business Workflow and SAP Interactive Forms by Adobe with our customers to replace paper-based processes and support customer specific requirements and process change," said Parag Joshi, Director of Business Development for LeverX. "We are quickly building our consulting and implementation practice to support customers in all areas of the enterprise."

LeverX has worked closely with SAP in the development, education and implementation of their PLM solutions including the use of SAP Interactive Forms by Adobe. LeverX will now be able to support customers in expanded areas of SAP enterprise solutions to deploy SAP Interactive Forms by Adobe and SAP Business Workflow.
